

HEY,

MUM

for the public work on the wall at the beginning of Wolphaertstraat, I want to make a wall paint with this giant text I wrote above.

The text has to fill the entire surface of the wall 80m2.

Panels must be applied over the red surface to host the text, which will be painted with acrylic paint.

The support materials to use will be decided together with the building team.

This is the exact font I want to use and the color could be magenta on black background (actually, we can decide the exact color together).

It is a simple but strong exclamation that all humans and not humans can relate to. Even if MUM is missing, you are coming from there.

It is dedicated to all the women, mums, and children living in Wolphaertstraat, in Charlois, in Rotterdam, in the world.

A universal message in this time of division and war...

Let's remember where we all come from!
